Serbian Writers Association,

On behalf of the China Writers Association and Chinese literary circle, I would like to extend my sincere solidarity to your organization and to all Serbian writers at this critical moment of battle against the COVID-19.

China and Serbia share a deep and traditional friendship. After the outbreak of COVID-19 in China, the government of the Republic of Serbia and its people expressed solidarity, sympathies and support to China, which moves us deeply and still is kept in our heart. Hard work has so far paid off and the epidemic has almost been put under effective control. People's life is gradually back to normal now.

However, unfortunately, the epidemic has spread in Serbia and brought harm to Serbian people. At present, anti-epidemic expert team from China are together with the Serbian people against COVID-19 in Serbia. Concerned with Serbian writers, the China Writers Association and Chinese writers stay in solidarity with you and overcome the difficulties with concerted efforts.

Last year, I headed a China Writers Association delegation on a fruitful visit to Serbia with our mutual understanding and friendship enhanced. After the epidemic is over, we look forward to deepening cooperation and strengthening literary exchanges between our two countries.

Wish you good health and all peace!

Yours sincerely,

Qian Xiaoqian

Vice President

China Writers Association
